

WAS SUMMONED TO GERMAN ARMY

Naturalized Citizen Compelled to Flee From His Native Land to Escape Service.

New York, December 23.—Fleeing from Germany, where he says the government sought to impress him into the military service, John Klein, a naturalized American citizen and a former soldier in our army, returned yesterday on the steamship Koenigsluise, after many adventures. As a fugitive he tramped from Germany across the Alps to Rome. He suffered from exposure and cold, having to wade at times through snow waist high. He figures that he walked 250 miles.

Klein saved several hundred dollars and set out to visit his parents at Florenheim, sailing from here on July 19. His subsequent troubles, he believes, came because of the failure of the German consul at Minneapolis, where he lives, to notify the home authorities that he was an American citizen. He got to Florenheim in September. Three weeks after his arrival a corporal and guard from the One Hundred and Seventeenth Regiment of the line appeared and notified the young man that he was wanted to serve his three years in the army. His explanation did no good, and the soldiers took with them his belongings.

Instead of reporting at the barracks, Klein mounted his father's bicycle and sped to Mainz. From there he walked to Basel, then on to Lucerne and Andermatt, from which place he began his ascent through the St. Gotthard Pass. He had to climb upward through snow which he said came to his waist. He had no overcoat and, though he wrapped his feet and legs in bagging, he suffered much from the extreme cold. He was weak with hunger, he said, when he finally reached a hospice in the pass. He remained there three days. He then took his tramp again, and some days later stumbled, weary and cold, into Faido, on the Italian side.

At Faido he made a few francs by working in a hotel. He walked on to Como, and from there to Milan. The walking then was easy, and he did not want food. It was late in October when Klein arrived at Genoa. He could obtain no work there, and continued on to Rome, going by way of Milan. It took him fifteen days to make this tramp. Food was scarce, he said, and he had to sleep nights under haystacks. He was penniless when he reached Rome, but in spite of this he found time to see the sights. All this is entered in a diary he kept during his flight. In Rome he met an American, and from him obtained money to reach Naples.

There he put his case before American Vice-Consul Smith, who got him a berth as deckhand on the Koenigsluise. Klein said he came to this country twelve years ago as a stow-away on the American line Philadelphia.

When his presence on board was discovered the passengers took so much interest in him that his fare was paid and his name entered on the ship's list.

Bad Colds

Some colds are worse than others, but they are all bad. Do not neglect them. Treat promptly, vigorously. First, ask your doctor about taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then do as he says.

CHRISTMAS FURNITURE AT JANUARY PRICES

AT

Jones Bros. & Co.

(INCORPORATED)

1418-1420 E. Main St.

Miller Manufacturing Co., Inc. South Richmond, Va., Sash, Doors and Blinds MILL WORK.

Contractors and builders should have our prices and estimates when figuring on any kind of building construction.

PITTS FURNITURE COMPANY SPECIAL SALE

1429 E. Main St. 117 W. Broad St.

Don't Take Chances

With your advertising appropriation. Secure the services of an agency who has made a success for others. Advice and plans free.

Freeman Advertising Agency Mutual Building Richmond, - Virginia.

Tyler's

Bates' Street Shirts

ELECTRIC Shoe Shine

726 East Main Street.

PIANO TUNING

Repairing, Voicing and General Overhauling.

Let us estimate for you. Phone Madison 6806.

CRAFTS

Fifth and Grace Streets.

The Berry Store Will Be Verily a "Gift Store" To-Day!

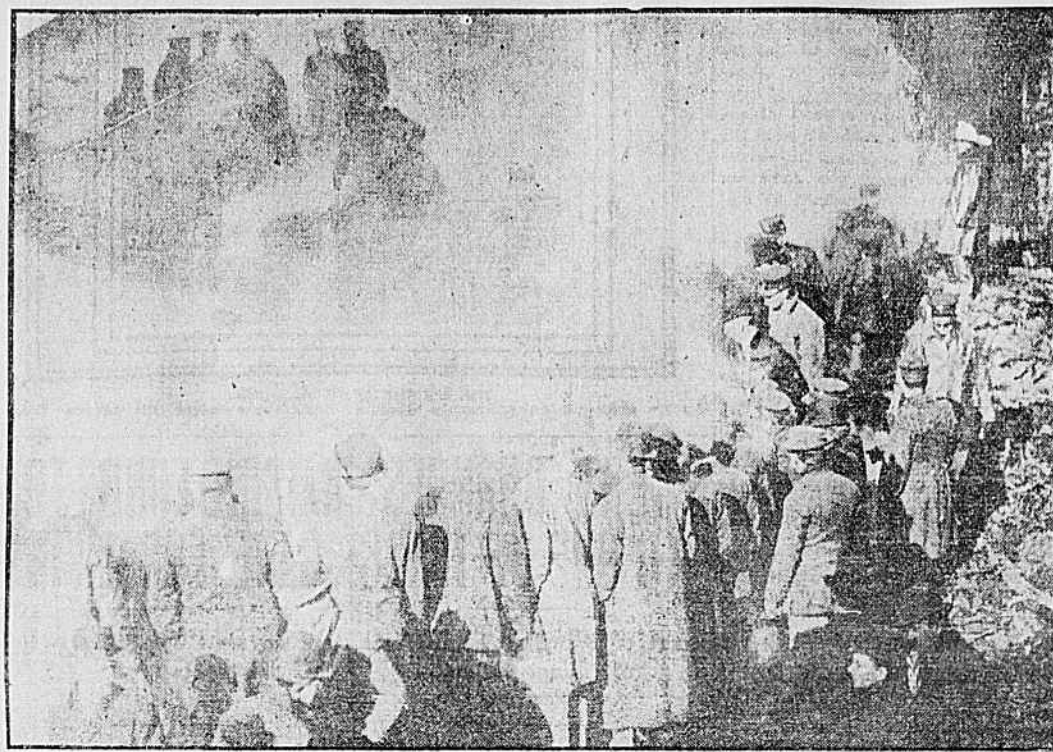

We've augmented our selling force, and every energy will be bent and every facility of this great store for men and boys will be directed towards giving our patrons the usual good service they are accustomed to when shopping here.

Our stock of Holiday Novelties and fancy and luxurious wear for men have all been arranged so as to be most accessible, and we promise you that little of your time will be lost in rounding out your Xmas gift buying in a most satisfactory manner if you come here to-day.

Xmas boxes and Xmas cards, gratis.

O. H. Berry & Co.

AT PHILADELPHIA'S GREAT FIRE

Crowds watching firemen digging in ruins for bodies buried under fallen walls.

RAISING FUNDS TO CARE FOR LIVING

(Continued From First Page.)

mitted, at a meeting at the Mayor's office this afternoon, a call for the raising of $50,000 for the benefit of the widows and children of the four dead men. Pension of $20 a month will be given to each widow and $5 a month to each child under sixteen years of age. Each widow will also receive $1,200 in cash.

E. T. Stotesbury, the banker, and E. J. Vane, a Republican leader and city contractor, head the fund with subscriptions of $1,000 each.

NITRO-GLYCERINE EXPLODES

Placed in Safe by Burglar, It Kills Repair Man.

Chicago, Ill., December 23.—Attempts of burglars two weeks ago to rob a building in Kimmel, Ind., resulted in a death in Chicago today. The victim was trying to repair the damage done to a safe a fortnight ago. The safe had been brought to a repair company here, and Stephen Pavlek, a safe repairer, endeavored to open the door, which had been wedged shut and the combination dial destroyed.

A sledge hammer blow on the door to straighten a corner touched off a charge of nitro-glycerine, which had been behind the door ever since the attempted robbery. The safe door was blown across the room, crushing the repair man's head like an eggshell. The explosion created considerable commotion in the business district.

NO CHRISTMAS STOCKINGS

Children Burn to Death While Parents Avant, Okla., December 23.—No Christmas stockings will be hung up in Frank McCoy's home this year. His children, Ethel, aged one year, and Raymond, aged two years, were burned to death today when the McCoy residence, a two-story bungalow, was destroyed by fire while the parents were out buying Christmas presents.

DEMAND READJUSTMENT OF TREASURY RATES

Pittsburg, Pa., December 23.—Demanding a readjustment of Treasury rates in the Pittsburgh district, coal, coke and steel, representing many millions of invested capital in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, will meet in the Chamber of Commerce January 1. Some of those interested in calling the meeting are among the biggest men in various lines, and they claim that freight rates within the district are demand equalization. It is desired, they say, that each section be charged a just percentage of freight charges to the outside world as well as switching charges to points, which at the time includes transportation in two or more stages.

PERFORMS TRIPLE WEDDING.

Rev. G. H. Burroughs, Has United 3,515

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Bristol, Va., December 23.—"This points me 3,515 couples," said Rev. Alfred Harrison Burroughs today, when he told of a triple wedding at his hotel for couples last night. Those who stood in a semicircle to be married, with one ceremony, and dispensed with one here, were Harvey Alden Bruce and Miss Maggie Gertrude Linow, of Bell Springs; Stephen Roberts, of Norfolk; Miss Fannie Gay Wilson, of Radford; and William Arthur Moore, of Albemarle. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Burroughs, assisted by Miss Alice Hubbard, of Swarth Creek, Russell county.

GIL-LOVING.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Amherst, Va., December 23.—On Wednesday night last, Miss Elizabeth C. Loving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Loving, and Willie Gill, son of S. S. Gill, of the Lowesville section, eloped.

Only One "BROMO GUINNE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO GUINNE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day.

World over to Cure a Cold in One Day.

World over to Cure a Cold in One Day.

World over to Cure a Cold in One Day.

World over to Cure a Cold in One Day.

World over to Cure a Cold in One Day.

BRIGAND MENACES SUGAR FIELDS

Solis Asks Cuban Planters for Money on Penalty of Burning Their Cane.

Havana, December 23.—While Solis the kidnapping brigand, continues his profitable activities the newspapers here unite in ridiculing Montegudo, commander of the rurales, for an interview expressing his discouragement and blaming the country people of the protect the outlaws for misleading the rurales with false information.

One newspaper says that Montegudo is just like the captain-general in Spanish times, who put the blame for brigandage on the people's sympathy with brigands. This journal points out that the people's sympathy must now again be against the government.

Senior Hera, who was captured a few days ago and ransomed for $5,000, gives an interesting account of his experience while he was with the bandits. Solis, he says, divided the money separately with his lieutenant, half and half, telling the captive that this was his inevitable practice, because he believed that fairness was the best harmony and concomitant safety.

After making the division Solis, before releasing his captive, said it pained him immeasurably more than it did the captive to be compelled to do so.

But the brigand's explanation of the situation and the ethics of his profession necessitated the action. The outlaw expressed the sincerest affection for his captive as a comrade in arms in the war for independence, and hoped he would not bear ill-will.

His captive further relates that he observed the greatest cordiality between the inhabitants of the countryside and the bandits, due, perhaps, to the latter's paying double for everything purchased and stealing nothing.

The outlaws at frequent intervals released prisoners, but it is not possible to confirm them as facts. The idea of using bloodhounds to catch the brigand is ridiculed, on the ground that the country people would be sure to poison the dogs. Everybody is wondering, however, why no reward has been offered for the capture of the brigand.

General Leopoldo Wood having got rid of the last bandit in his time by offering a reward of $2,500. The offer in this case, which resulted in the killing of the bandit, who was named Lino Lima, and who had terrorized the great sugar province of Manzanillo.

The planters of the Ciego de Avila region are the most alarmed now, none knowing who will be the next victim. Perez, from whom the ransom of $5,000 which he attempted to deliver to the brigand for his nephew's ransom, is trying to recover the money, which is in the possession of the court, which it is said, declares that the money is forfeit, because Perez was attempting to compound a felony.

If the authorities insist on this policy, Solis will burn the sugar fields, inflicting hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of damage and provoking the planters violently against the government.

Opposition papers are already inquiring why the rurales are concentrated in Havana, while brigandage is rampant in the country. Solis having made the inference that the government does not want to capture the outlaws, insinuating that he is buying immunity.

Solis knows every foot of the region of his operations, around which are the roughest and most impenetrable woods and mountains. He is operating in that section in the war for independence. The fact that the brigand has a sweetheart who is schoolmistress at

Chas. P. Neill was called in, the engineers were asking for an increase in wages of about 15 per cent, and the railroad was offering approximately 1 1/2 per cent. This difference was finally cut more than in half, but it was not known until this morning at just what place the young couple were married.

Roosevelt will speak

Heart of Napoleon

Supposed Organ of Emperor Lamented at Cathedral of St. Dennis.

Paris, December 23.—Appropos of the investigation being conducted by the French Parliament as to the right of Naundorff to consider himself the grandson of Louis XVII., an interesting discovery has been made in the Cathedral of St. Dennis, where the investigating committee went to search for the heart of Louis XVII. This discovery is nothing less than what is believed to be the heart of the great Napoleon.

Recently M. Boisy d'Anglais, the chairman of the committee, discovered some documents which pointed to the Cathedral of St. Dennis as a probable source of further information on the subject of Naundorff's claim.

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

The verger then opened the vast iron door which contains the hearts of the ancient cathedrals. The reliquary and coffins of the Kings of France, which are now restored as well as possible after the damage they received during the Revolution, were visited and examined with minute care. In the vaults another tomb was found which had not been mentioned in the official inventory of National Monuments. It bears the initial "N."

A CABLE AD EVERY DAY

Our Christmas Piano Sale IS ON

Cable Piano Co.

213 East Broad

EVERYTHING MUSICAL

MANILA JOURNALISTS LOSE

Supreme Court Headlines Sentences on Editor and Manager.

Manila, December 23.—The Supreme Court yesterday disposed of The Manila Remonstrance case by sentencing Theodore Kalaw, formerly editor of the paper and now a member of the Philippine Assembly, to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

A CABLE AD EVERY DAY

Our Christmas Piano Sale IS ON

Cable Piano Co.

213 East Broad

EVERYTHING MUSICAL

MANILA JOURNALISTS LOSE

Supreme Court Headlines Sentences on Editor and Manager.

Manila, December 23.—The Supreme Court yesterday disposed of The Manila Remonstrance case by sentencing Theodore Kalaw, formerly editor of the paper and now a member of the Philippine Assembly, to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin Ocampo, formerly the manager, to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000, for having criminally libeled Commissioner Dean C. Worcester.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. Kalaw was convicted in December, 1908, and sentenced in the following month. Kalaw was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, and Martin O